

ECITB – Managing Risk as Part of a Project Team

WHO WOULD BENEFIT FROM THIS COURSE?

This course is aimed at any individuals in a project team who need to understand and learn best practice techniques of how risk is managed.

Suitable for:-

This course is aimed at anyone involved in project risk management at any level.

COURSE STRUCTURE

The principles of managing risk as part of a project team are explained, demonstrated and reinforced. The course is participative in nature, utilising presentation sessions to support group discussions and exercises.

There is no assessment although delegates will obtain a certificate of attendance.

To obtain the optimum benefit from this course, delegates should have either completed the 'Introductory Certificate in Project Management (ICPM)' or have a thorough background in the fundamentals of project management as a discipline.

COURSE DURATION

ONE DAY

BOOK A PLACE ON THIS COURSE

KEY LEARNING POINTS

By the end of the course delegates will have gained an appreciation of the following key areas

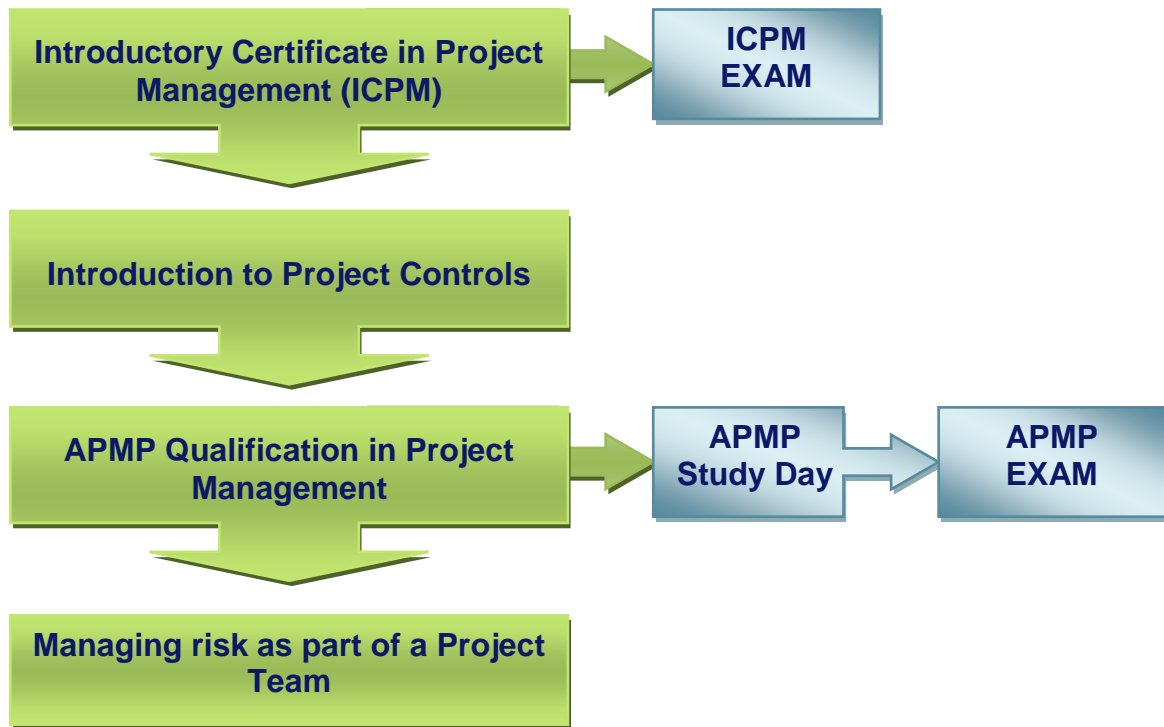

- Appreciate the need for risk management to ensure project success
- Recognise risk management is all about making conscious decisions
- Gain a common understanding of the risk management process
- Converse in common language across team
- Recognise their specific role in the team and the part they play is an integral part of the entire plan
- Understand the practical implementation of the risk management plan

Engineering Construction Industry Training Board

APPROVED PROVIDER

ECITB Project Management Study Route

Candidates who progress through the ECITB study route could successfully complete the full qualification within approximately 2 years